

Carnegie-Stout Public Library

Presents:

The 10th Annual Great Reading Challenge!

The RULES and GOALS of the GRC 2025

1. This yearlong reading challenge is open to adults 18+.
2. Please sign up at the Reference Desk, Recommendations Desk, via our website (carnegiestout.org) or the Beanstack app.
3. Use this log or the Beanstack app to track your reading for 2025.
4. Pick the books you read based on the categories within this packet, or choose the books you want to read and find categories that fit. You can do it either/both ways.
5. READ! Read a lot of books, and/or spend a lot of time reading! Why? Because reading is fun and good for us! ☺
6. We are not picky about rule-following. Feel free to ask us questions to clarify categories (etc.) but we trust your judgement.
7. The GRC is all about achieving your own personal reading goals. You set your reading goals and let us know how you did. To further aid in helping readers, we have included additional ways to track reading. Read “Ways to Track Your Reading” for more information.

2 Ways to Track Your Reading

- Fill out this log or download the digital version available as a fillable PDF form on our website.

OR

- Access the Beanstack App and track your reading in the app one of two ways:
 - 1.) The traditional way, where you count the number of books you read.
 - 2.) Our new option! Count the amount of time spent reading.

At the end of 2025, you will submit to the library one of the following totals:

- 1.) The total number of books read (as we have always done).
- 2.) The total number of minutes/hours read (you can add the time length of an audiobook you listened to, and use a timer to track your paper/eBook reading for this total).

IF you want to know more....

- We decided to give people the option of recording the time spent reading because some people are slower readers and don't read many books throughout the year, but they do spend a lot of time reading. Also, some folks read books that are very long. If they read 30 books in the year, but those books were all over 900 pages, that's a different kind of reading experience. Hopefully, you will find one of these ways to track reading to fit your style!
- The way that we calculated time spent reading was to look at the average time it takes to read a 300-page book (the average length of an adult book). We then multiplied it out and attached meaningless but fun reading levels to reach!

With the new type of tracking, here are some numbers to keep in mind when reading, or deciding how you want to track. These levels are only for fun. Try to reach the level that works for you.

If you choose to track the number of books you read in 2025:

Read 12-29 books = BRONZE LEVEL

Read 30-49 books = SILVER LEVEL

Read 50-69 books = GOLD LEVEL

Read 70-89 books = PLATINUM LEVEL

Read 90-199 books = DIAMOND LEVEL

Read 200+ books = GRC CHAMPION ALL-STAR

If you choose to track time spent reading in 2025:

Please see the numbers below to get an idea of the amounts of time you might want to spend reading. You don't have to choose a particular level, this is just to show you how to reach these particular levels in case you want to set one as your goal. The number of hours is approximate, so feel free to use your best judgement and round your time as needed. Don't forget that audiobook minutes count too!

Read 78 hours = BRONZE LEVEL

EXAMPLE: Read 3x a week for 30 minutes (90 minutes per week) = 4680 minutes → 78 hours of reading

Read 156 hours = SILVER LEVEL

EXAMPLE: Read 3x a week for 60 minutes (180 minutes per week) = 9360 minutes → 156 hours of reading

Read 208 hours = GOLD LEVEL

EXAMPLE: Read 4x a week for 60 minutes (240 minutes per week) = 12480 minutes → 208 hours of reading

Read 260 hours = PLATINUM LEVEL

EXAMPLE: Read 5x a week for 60 minutes (300 minutes per week) = 15,600 minutes → 260 hours of reading

Read 312 hours = DIAMOND LEVEL

EXAMPLE: Read 6x a week for 60 minutes (360 minutes per week) = 18720 minutes → 312 hours of reading

Read 728 hours = GRC CHAMPION ALL-STAR

EXAMPLE: Read 7x a week for 120 minutes (840 minutes per week) = 43,680 minutes → 728 hours of reading

Frequently Asked Questions about the GRC:

- 1. Do I have to read a book from every category in the book log? You can do that if you wish, but you definitely do not have to. You get to set your own overall reading goals based on your needs and how it fits your reading this year.
- 2. Do the books have to be fiction/non-fiction? Many of the categories can be either/or. There are some categories that are specific, but many more categories can be fulfilled with whatever book you find that fits.
- 3. Can I listen to an audiobook/read an eBook, read a kid's or teen book, etc. for the GRC?

Absolutely! We love all the reading formats and encourage you to read in whatever way you prefer or most enjoy. The only slight limitation is if you choose to read juvenile books, they ought to be more substantial chapter books. Generally, closer to 200 pages. This is mainly relevant if you are counting books read, versus minutes.
- 4. How many books (or minutes) do I have to read to win the Great Reading Challenge? The GRC is a personal goal-oriented reading challenge, but to put a number on it – you should read at least 12 books by the end of 2025 to finish or “win” the GRC. The number of minimum minutes/hours is 78 hours or the equivalent to reading one half hour, three times a week. See above info regarding tracking reading minutes.
- 5. Do I really have to be 18 years or older to participate in the GRC? Yes, officially. However, if you are under 18 and inspired to read a bunch of different categories in the GRC, we will always encourage you to read! Feel free to follow along unofficially.
- 6. What does “Create a Category!” mean?

For the first part of the booklog, Reading A to Z, there is a category under each letter called “Create a Category!” This just means you get to decide how to use that letter and what the category is. For example, if the book you are reading just doesn't fit any category well, or you already used the appropriate category, you get to be creative! It's your time to shine! For the ‘Create a Category’ in “A”: You could say “Read a book where the main character lives in Alaska” Or “Read a book with an Apple on the cover.” The wackier the category, the better! Have fun with it!
